Open Plumbing, But---

Tight joints. Our modern method of sanitary plumbing is seemly, clean, and the piping is easily gotten at when there's the slightest difficulty, which seldom occurs, for the plumbing is "open" while the joints are tight. If you have a thought of plumbing, think of us.

EYES OF NATION
TURNED TO DIXIEUnprecedented Internal Improvements Attract General Attention.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Washington, D. C., January 15.— The South is coming into its own. No section of this great country is getting more favorable advertising.
Everybody has a good word for it. The unprecedented internal improvements with the last decade and a half have attracted the attention of the entire country.

Recently Secretary Wilson, of the United States Department of Agriculture, made a flying visit to North Carolina, the occasion being the annual meeting of the National Farmers' Association, and was so impressed with what he saw that he has never lost an opportunity to speak of it.

"Why," he said to me yesterday morning when I called at his office, "the boys of the South have pulled their coats off and are at work. They are farming, manufacturing and trading. You have great cotton mills and still greater tobacco factories. White and colored people are at work, earning good wages, building homes and bank accounts and developing the country."

Trying to Help Along Good Work.
In every way possible, said Mr. Wilson, his department was going to help the South. This does not mean that he is going to single it out for that purpose, but, as a part of the Union, it is to have its share of attention. He spoke of the progress of the boll weevil and the necessity for diversified farming, so when the little insect makes cotton growing unprofitable the lands can be turned to something else.
The corn crop for 1909, he declared, was greater than for any other year.
More hogs and more cattle should be raised, and the production of beef and hog mutton. His efforts so far have been very successful.

Prizes for the most corn per acre and the best hogs are being sent out.
Experts in various lines of agriculture are working in connection with the States.

"We want to make the day's work worth more to the farmer," said Mr.
Wilson, "and we would make an acre yield more. These are the principles things. To this end we must all work."

Dr. Knapp has sent out more than 100,000 copies of a paper issued last September on "Hog Raising in the South." In this circular, or bulletin, he says: "Hog raising is one of the most profitable lines of animal husbandry in the South. It is wisely managed, and one of the most profitable if conducted in the ordinary way—that is, if the hogs are raised without care and fed without knowledge or judgment."

Having described the two methods of raising hogs in common use, and ranking them as "objectionable" and "praiseworthy," he makes the following statement:

"The cost of raising hogs, when fed on corn alone, is estimated at 5 cents a pound, live weight, when corn is worth 50 cents a bushel, and 7 cents a pound when corn is worth 75 cents a bushel. This is a loss of 2 cents a pound, usually made up by the sale of the hogs at a profit of 2 cents a pound.
But corn is not usually fed alone, and when raised on corn alone care and feed are seldom very thrifty; consequently the cost will average much greater than this."

The best way to make hog-raising profitable in the South is to graze the hogs upon pastures prepared specially for them," continues Dr.
Knapp, "supplementing the grain food by the addition of a small grain ration.
Upon this plan hogs can be raised at an average cost of 1.1-1.2 cents a pound, depending mainly upon the management of the sows and pigs and upon an economic plan of fattening."

A valuable bulletin on "Hog Cholera," by Dr. M. Dorsett, has been published, and with the one on hog raising by Dr. Knapp, can be had for the asking. A number of Southern Congressmen are mailing these to their constituents. Representative Johnston, of South Carolina, sent out several thousand last week.

The East is looking to the South for food products. Secretary Wilson has men at work now gathering data on the prices received by the producer for the most common food products.
He will ascertain, if possible, who is getting the benefit of the high prices prevailing throughout the country.

Professor Milton, chief of the Bureau of Soils, in giving his explanation of the increase in the cost of living, said:
"We, as a nation, are very rich; wages are high and we can afford variety, and we all enjoy far greater variety than we did fifty years ago. The markets in our cities, large and small, already have spring and summer vegetables, fruits and meats at prices within the reach of the masses of the people."

To his interview he added: "There never have been greater opportunities offered for American farming. In the East and South especially are cheap productive soils awaiting resettlement and reoccupation, with ever-increasing variety of products. We should apply ourselves in earnest and with determination to get the best out of them by exercising intelligent control of these invaluable assets. We should, furthermore, do this by force of intellect or foresight, rather than by force of necessity, as has been the case in European countries."

The prediction that the South will become the great truck garden for the big cities of the North and East is often made here.

Everybody is looking to Dixie.
